

DECLARATION OF ROTARIANS
IN BUSINESSES AND PROFESSIONS

As a Rotarian engaged in a business or profession, I am expected to:

- 1) consider my vocation to be another opportunity to serve;
- 2) be faithful to the letter and to the spirit of the ethical codes of my vocation, to the laws of my country, and to the moral standards of my community;
- 3) do all in my power to dignify my vocation and to promote the highest ethical standards in my chosen vocation;
- 4) be fair to my employer, employees, associates, competitors, customers, the public, and all those with whom I have a business or professional relationship;
- 5) recognize the honor and respect due to all occupations which are useful to society;
- 6) offer my vocational talents: to provide opportunities for young people, to work for the relief of the special needs of others, and to improve the quality of life in my community;
- 7) adhere to honesty in my advertising and in all representations to the public concerning my business or profession;
- 8) neither seek from nor grant to a fellow Rotarian a privilege or advantage not normally accorded others in a business or professional relationship.

October will be Vocational Service month around the Rotary world.

Here's Paul Harris and Ches Perry on "Avenues of Service" and the importance of "Vocations."

"The formula of procedure is indeed simple. Why Rotarians differ in many respects - in two respects they are in perfect accord. First they believe that all nations are respectable and desire to be honorable in their dealings with other nations. That it is the privilege of all men to worship God according to the dictates of their own conscience. In other words Rotary stands for TOLERANCE. Second they believe, that all honorable vocations are entitled to recognition if they are used in the service of society. With these signs of agreement firmly established, disagreement is almost unknown."

Paul P. Harris, radio address at the 1933 convention in Boston
